

I urge Chairman Powell to delay the upcoming decision on the rule change that would allow for increased consolidation of the airwaves. There has been almost no public debate on this issue not because the public doesn't care but because existing media has provided almost no coverage on this matter and the public has not been well informed on the ramifications of this decision. Putting the power of the airwaves in the hands of a few large corporations seriously threatens the democratic principles that have made America great. The airwaves belong to the people and they should have more of a voice in how they are used and who controls them.
